DROPS DEAD
IN HIS CHAIR
BY FIRESIDE

MARTIN VANSICKLE, AGED 68, DIES SUDDENLY AT HIS HOME IN JACKSON TP.

Martin Vansickle, aged 68 years who lived on a small farm in Jackson township died Saturday evening at 5 o'clock after an illness of but one day. Neurlogia of the heart was the cause of death.

Had Heart Trouble

Mr. Vansickle worked all day Friday in the field husking corn and when he returned home in the evening complained of a pain over his heart. A physician was called and gave temporary relief. Saturday he seemed as well as usual and spent the day in front of his fireside. In the evening he passed away as he sat in a chair surrounded by his wife and family of eight children.

Leaves Big Family

The deceased was born and reared in Coshocton county. He lived quietly and unpretentiously and was highly respected by all who knew him. The children surviving are Misses Ada, Nellie, Emma, Malinda, Helen and John. Alfred and Charles Vansickle.

Funeral services will be held at the Blooming Grove church although the date had not been decided upon last night.

Cold Nights
Bring Tramps
to City Prison

The extreme cold nights are bringing tramps to the police station in search of a night's lodging.

Many "knights of the road" apply at headquarters every night for a berth and all seem content to sleep anywhere just so they can keep warm.

Citizens Telephone Co.
Would Increase Stock

The petition of the stockholders of the Citizens Telephone Co. to raise their capitalization from $50,000 to $75,000 will be given a hearing before the state public service commission in Columbus Thursday afternoon February 20. The hearing will be held in the capitol building.

The petition of the stockholders asks permission to issue $10,575 in common stock and $17,000 in 6 per cent notes.

The Citizens Telephone Co. is on the tax duplicate for $84,700.

WOULD CHARTER
VOTE BE LEGAL?

Legal Lights are of Opinion That State Legislature Must First Pass Necessary Law.

Has Coshocton been too hasty with her plans to elect a commission to draw up a new municipal charter under the provisions of the new state constitution?

Coshocton, like several other cities of the state, has fixed a date for the election—February 4—and prospective candidates are busy circulating their petitions. Now comes word from Columbus to the effect that City Solicitor Bolin has advised the council of that city to defer action towards providing the commission form of government until the state legislature has taken what he believes, necessary legislative action.

Sure of Grounds

Mayor Baker, of Cleveland, is said to be of the same opinion and has advised that the election of commissions and adoption of new charters, will not be legal until after the legislature has passed a law, outlining methods of procedure. As far as could be learned, the matter has never been brought to the attention of Attorney General Hogan for a ruling but in view of the fact that the question has been raised, it is thought that Coshocton should at least be certain of her grounds before the expense of an election is incurred.

Mayor Invests
in Florida Land

Mayor G. W. Cassingham has returned from St. Petersburg, Fla., where he with a party of Columbus, O., men, purchased a tract of land, which will later be divided into city lots.

The town is said to be growing at a rapid rate. The 1910 census gave the population at 4,000 while the last city census showed it to be 16,000. About 22,000 inhabitants are claimed for it now.

Elson in
No Hurry
to Appear

Because his features are so badly battered is thought to be the reason that Henry Elson, is slow about facing Squire E. G. Abbott to answer to the two charges which were lodged against him New Year's day by Bert Murray and John Dayton.

After raising a disturbance on South Second street, according to the charges filed against him, Elson viciously resisted arrest when Sheriff A. C. McDonald went after him and as a result was roughly handled.

Elson has not been feeling well since and it seems has been content to spend his time in the county jail thinking the matter over rather than face the square.

Noisy
Youth Is Jailed

A minor whose name could not be learned, was arrested by Lieutenant Hankins on a charge of intoxication on Main street Saturday night.

The youth was feeling extremely bilious and was making the night hideous by his loud yells when taken in tow by the officer. When they arrived at the police station he was too intoxicated to tell his name. An effort will probably be made to find where he obtained the liquor when he is given his hearing Monday morning.

New Plans for Street
Lighting

The Coshocton Gas Co. will soon institute a campaign among the business people of Main street to have them erect in front of their places of business, a new kind of gas lamp which not only throws a large volume of light but is claimed to be even more attractive than the cluster lamps and much less expensive.

An Annual Rate

The idea is to install the lamps, furnish the gas and keep them in shape for a new annually. The plan it is said is being carried out in other cities with great success and the gas company believes that the business people of this city are anxious for a light something on the order of a cluster if a right kind of price can be struck.

Arches Too Expensive?

It will be remembered that before and after the Centennial arches were talked of, while the idea was pronounced a good one and looked upon with not a little favor, a great many people shied at the expense connected with such a proposition.

DR. KEENAN IMPROVES

Dr. W. H. Keenan, who for the past seven weeks has been suffering from a severe attack of typhoid fever, showed slight improvement yesterday for the first.

Walkout in Conley
Mine is Averted

Men Kick Against Superintendent's New Rule and Order is Rescinded.

A walkout at the Conley mine at Rock Run was narrowly averted Friday when the operator ordered that in the future the miners would be compelled to return the empty cars from the coal tipple to their rooms.

About 15 men are employed.

Order Rescinded

Secretary Edwin P. Miller was called to preside at a meeting Friday night attended by a committee of the miners and Superintendent Klein of the mine. The matter was talked over, following which the order was rescinded.

Let Mules Do Work

The men in the past loaded their cars at the face of the coal, that is, in their rooms, and the cars were then taken away by mules to the tipple and the empties returned to the rooms.

The new ruling, it is claimed, would have worked a great hardship on the men.

Butler, Pa., Jan. 4.—Six children born within less than four years is the record of Mr. and Mrs. John Bonner of Cabot, this county, who are proud, with the birth of a third pair of twins yesterday. All are in excellent health.

J. C. HIGGINS
DIES SUDDENLY
IN CINCINNATI

J. Curran Higgins, printer of Lexington, Ky., who was employed at the American Art Works during the past autumn, died December 31 in Cincinnati as the result of a brief illness of pneumonia and meningitis.

Mr. Higgins was in the employ of the Morning Tribune as printer when he lived in Coshocton two years ago. At that time he joined the local lodge of Modern Woodmen of America and continued to hold his membership in the lodge.

For a short time before the holidays of this year he was again employed at the Tribune office, but left Coshocton December 20 for Lexington where he was expected to spend Christmas with his family. He was taken ill before he reached Cincinnati and died there last Tuesday. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Higgins of Lexington, Ky., the widow, four little daughters and two sisters.

GREEN TO INTRODUCE NEW INSURANCE BILL

Coshocton Senator Has Measure Which, if Passed, Will be Hard Blow to Liability Concerns now Doing Business in Ohio.

Columbus, O., Jan. 4.—Senator William Green of Coshocton will introduce a bill in the senate this winter that will, if it is passed, virtually drive liability insurance companies out of the state, for it will prohibit them from guaranteeing protection to employers from damage claims of injured employees where the legal safety requirements have not been complied with. The state board approves this.

Favor Michigan Plan

The employers' liability companies favor the Michigan plan, which provides for several different kinds of insurance. Both Governor Cox and Senator Green at first favored the simple compulsory plan of employers' liability insurance, but are now looking with favor on the plan of the board for more amendments to the present voluntary plan, which is beginning to work well with the reduction just made in the rates.

Increase State Business

The employers' liability insurance companies took $2,000,000 out of Ohio in the way of premiums in 1911. Half of this, Mr. Yapple of the state board claims, was on industrial accidents. He believes that with the volunteer provision as at present, the state board will do a million dollars worth of business this year, as compared with $100,000 last year.

2 Arrests
Stop Fight
On Street

George Martter and a young man named Clough were arrested Saturday afternoon on a charge of fighting by Detective Doney.

Clough is said to have made some slurring remarks about Martter and the latter took it upon himself to administer justice.

When Officer Doney made the arrest he called upon "Willie" Brown to assist. Willie carried well the power invested in him as a strong arm of the law and on the way to the city prison with Martter, when the prisoner did not walk to suit him, he hit him fairly on the nose bringing the "claret."

Taylors and Fiecoats
Still at Swords' Points

That the Taylors and Fiecoats of the Blue Row are still at swords' points was indicated Saturday when Manning Taylor was arraigned before Squire M. W. Winner upon a charge of drunkenness filed by Mrs. John Fiecoats.

He pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $1 and costs, which he paid. It will be remembered the trouble started about a week ago when George Taylor, father of Manning, filed charges against John Fiecoats charging him with furnishing intoxicants to a minor, Sherman Towell. When the case was called for trial last week in Squire E. G. Abbott's court, it was dropped because the plaintiff failed to appear.

Mrs. Fiecoats, sometime ago also filed charges of using profane language and attempting to provoke a breach of the peace against George Taylor in Squire Winner's court. Taylor was bound over to the grand jury on these Manning, filed charges against Fiecoats.

Two Boys Saved From Workhouse by Sisters

Charles Outman and George Aland costs amounting to $10. A son of Newark, who was arrested on a charge of stealing Penny telegraph a train-rider charge. Their "gran' folks" was also placed day night by Detective Charles against them but when they promised to be saved from the workhouse to help bring 12 other members of the youth's band of their gang to justice the arrived in Coshocton Saturday afternoon and were released.

As a New Year's present Squire Winner, before whom they appeared, ordered Penny train-rider charge dropped and presented them with their $10 and landed in the county attic where they are now kept. They were each given one hundred dollars.

Mrs. Martin Weisser
Passes Away in Kansas

Miss Pauline Weisser of South Fourth street received word Saturday of the death of her brother's wife, Mrs. Martin Weisser of Topeka, Kansas. Mrs. Weisser was about 76 years of age. She was born and reared in Coshocton county and about thirty years ago left here, with her family, to make her home in Kansas.

Mrs. Weisser was a sister of the late T. J. Madden and an launt of the Misses Madden of Chestnut street. Her Coshocton county friends will remember her as a woman of kindly disposition, beloved by all who knew her and their sympathy will go out to the members of the family in their bereavement. In addition to the husband one daughter at home, a married daughter in Topeka, a son in Oklahoma and three sons in Denver survive.

FELLOW TOILERS TO RAISE BONDS

Will Try to Secure Release of Ironworkers.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—Directed from this city, a nation-wide campaign began to raise bonds of $1,575,000 for the 22 dynamite conspirators who were ordered released from the federal pen at Leavenworth on a writ of superseas, granted by the United States circuit court of appeals here.

The plan of the attorneys for the convicted men is to raise the money from among the local unions of the iron workers to which the men were attached. Attorney E. N. Zoline of Chicago, who is in charge of the campaign to raise the bonds, said that a large part of the necessary amount had already been pledged in Chicago.

Local Musician Highly Honored

Mrs. C. C. McMichael, pianist, was honored yesterday with a request to come to Massillon and Alliance for the purpose of accompanying the artist tenor singer, John Barnes Wells of New York City who is to appear in recitals on January 13 and 14 in those cities. In addition to the request that she play Mr. Barnes' accompaniments Mrs. McMichael is also asked to furnish two piano numbers on each program.

The request is in itself a tribute to Mrs. McMichael's splendid ability as a musician and while it comes as a complete surprise to her she will accept the invitation and assist Mr. Wells in making his artist recitals a complete success—something that the best singer can not accomplish without the support of a capable accompanist.

Enters School at Philadelphia

Eugene Renner, who has been employed at the C. M. Hay jewelry store for the past several months, left Friday morning for Philadelphia, Pa., where he will take a course at the Scholars' School of Horology.

Delaware, O., Jan. 5.—Charles Davis, 48, clerk of Radnor township, just north of Delaware, committed suicide by hanging himself in his barn. The body was found by his wife.

About six weeks ago there was considerable comment about a shortage in Davis' accounts, amounting to about $2,400. It was alleged that he had appropriated cemetery funds for his own use. Davis is said to have given mortgages to cover the amount of the alleged shortage, and the affair was dropped.

It now develops, however, that since that time an official of the state bureau of accounting has been at work checking up his books, and is alleged to have found further shortages of about $1,900. The examiner had just completed his work.

Besides his wife, a daughter 21 years of age survives.

SOB ARTISTS IN BAD WITH SULZER

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 5.—Governor Sulzer unsealed the papers in the Brandt case and afterwards decided that none of them should be made public until he had a chance to read them over. The governor added that he would not take up the Brandt case in any event until after the present legislative adjourns.

These are the papers upon which Governor Dix based his refusal to pardon Police Ensign Brandt, who was sentenced to 30 years in Clinton prison for burglary committed in the home of Mortimer L. Schiff in New York city, where he had been employed as a valet.

The governor is to make public the papers in the Patrick case next Monday.

While Governor Sulzer is open to conviction in any criminal case brought before him, he will not permit his friends to militate against his better judgment. A weeping woman entered the executive chamber in quest of pardon for her husband. The governor called her to him and asked her why she was crying. She told him she came to Albany from New York for a pardon for her husband.

"For what crime was he convicted?" asked the governor.

"He was a party to a work auction, and was sentenced for 30 days," replied the woman.

"My good woman," said the governor, "to come and thank God he didn't put a year."

How long do you suppose those fellows that scrapped for the McCarty belt would last before Sam Langford? Why, Langford could just name the round he was going to knock them out in. Then he'd do it."

SHOCK CORN MAKES GOOD FEED FOR THE FATTENING OF STEERS

Experiments Have Shown That Corn Need Not Be Husked For Feeding the Cattle—Is a Great Saving, of Labor and Handling

(By J. W. Hemeneth, College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.)

Rack for feeding corn fodder to cattle.

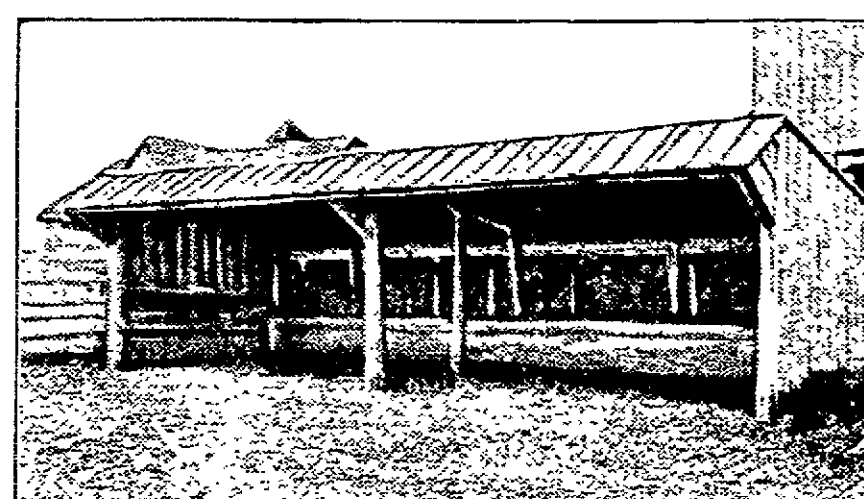

One of the greatest problems the present day farmer has to solve is the labor question. There are as many theories and solutions for this vital problem as there are men thinking about it. On many of our farms there is an unnecessary amount of labor expended in husking corn and then feeding the corn and stover separately to the live stock. Much of this useless labor might be saved.

Professor Mumford of the Illinois station, when feeding clover hay, found shock corn supplemented with ear corn and oil meal superior to shelled corn and oil meal. This result, substantiated by common experience, shows that corn need not be husked for the best results in steer feeding, and in a somewhat lesser measure this a good time to begin feeding, and in five or six months two-year-old steers will be ready for market. By feeding in the fall the weather is most favorable, and when it gets too bad to leave the cattle exposed, they may be confined in yards or pens and the feeding continued.

It is now conceded that stall feeding is the least profitable for the ordinary feeder, and that grinding does not pay, especially when hogs are permitted to follow the cattle. One hog to each steer is about the right number to consume all the waste corn.

At first each steer should have about 3 pounds of corn and the amount gradually increased until he is getting all he will eat. The waste of stover may be avoided by feeding some extra husk-

Open shed for cattle feeding use at the Pennsylvania experiment station.

Is true with the dairy cow and with the sheep. The man who has watched the cattle eagerly searching a bundle of stover for a possible ear or nubbin, which the would-be thrifty farmer has overlooked, must be impressed with the folly of husking corn for steer feeding. It is true that when fed in this way some corn passes through the cattle undigested, but if hogs are permitted to follow the cattle there will be no loss, but instead, an added profit will be made from the hogs.

Suppose, for example, we are feeding two-year-old steers. The feeding may begin just as soon as the corn is ripe enough to go into the shock; in other words, after ears harden, the husks turn brown, while some leaves still remain green. Immature corn should not be fed, as it will be laxative and cause the cattle to shrink. On the average, about September 15 is ed or snapped corn, 3 pounds of cotton seed meal will increase the gains materially, and will thus bring the cattle to an earlier finish.

In summing up we find that (1) this furnishes a good and effective combination of grain and roughage and lower in price than either fed separately; (2) it can be hauled from the shock and scattered on the ground to be plowed under at a low price for labor; (3) the manure is scattered in the field without additional expense; (4) the feeding is done when the weather is the most favorable.

A few farmers are growing corn especially for feeding from the shock. They plant it thicker than the ordinary corn, about 4 or 5 stalks per foot, or 5 or 6 inches apart when drilled. This gives more corn and stover per acre and the ears will be smaller for churning.

POTASSIUM AS A PLANT FOOD.

Potassium is present in rather large amounts in most of our clay soils. Soils were formed from the rocks that covered the surface of the earth thousands of years ago. Gradually these rocks crumbled to pieces and were ground to the fineness of dust and when decaying vegetable matter became mixed with this material, a soil was formed. The soils then contained plant food similar to that of the rocks from which they were produced. The rocks from which clay was formed were rich in potassium or potash, hence, these soils contain a large amount of this material, most of which, however, is in a form in which the plant cannot use it. Before plant food can be used, it must be dissolved in water. A small stone placed in a glass of water will not change in appearance; a lump of sugar, however, will soon dissolve and disappear. The stone is insoluble, but it may be made soluble. Anything that rots or decays in the soil will help to break about this change. Clover and timothy and straw and manure are valuable because, when they are plowed under, something will decay is added to the soil. So, too, a green crop of rye or clover is plowed under to increase the amount of plant food vegetable matter in the soil.

Since there is such a store of plant food in the soil, it is not necessary to replace it that is taken out by crops. If a man has a large amount of money in the bank he does not care to draw out the whole amount, but he does not hesitate to use the interest which accrues every six months. The same principle may be applied to the use of potash. A few loads of manure available from the large deposits in the soil. If the crops are fed to the animals and the manure returned to the fields, most of the potassium which was taken from the soil is returned. But if the crops are sold, the potash is carried away and part of it should be purchased and returned to the soil.

Potassium in the commercial form comes from Germany. It is not so expensive as nitrogen. One pound costs about six cents; one pound of nitrogen costs nearly three times that amount. Potassium is also bought in some fertilizers. It is spoken of, however, as potash.

M. A. BACHTELL,
College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

To learn the value of cooking feed for live stock, extensive trials were made at the North Dakota experiment station in feeding hogs and cattle raw feed and cooked feed. It was found that more pounds of gain were made from a given amount of feed when fed raw. Potatoes were an exception, as they gave the best returns when cooked.

The sows that are usually most profitable and that are usually the best mothers are those having long, deep bodies, with a row of well-developed teats on each side; that are quiet and easily disposed, but are possessed of enough energy to induce them to take plenty of exercise.

On heavy land coarse manure tends to open it up and make it more easily cultivated. There is more value in fresh manure than rotted and weathered manure.

A mixture of a little salt, charcoal, ashes and air-dried lime has a good effect upon the digestive systems of either young or old pigs.

Dairy cows will require less extra food in winter than in proportion as they are made warm and comfortable.

SERVICE

Two years ago Woodrow Wilson became a national character, not solely by virtue of having become the reform governor of a great state, but more particularly by his sane utterances on questions touching public policies and public morals.

Later, as a candidate for his party nomination for president and still more recently by his party leadership for that exalted office, Mr. Wilson has been much in the public eye. It is a pleasure to state that no man of our times has merited the approval of his countrymen to a greater degree, both by word and act, than Woodrow Wilson, governor of New Jersey and president-elect of the United States.

It has never been our policy to "talk politics" in these columns for the consumption of our Sunday readers, nor is it now. But we simply desire in this connection to quote from a recent speech of Mr. Wilson and commend it to our readers as a typically wise utterance of a man whom we believe to have a profound understanding of our questions of public policy and our vital needs.

In his Staunton, Va., speech Mr. Wilson used the word "SERVICE" and defined it in a way that would merit the approval of the most orthodox minister of the gospel. He told in that speech what he meant by "SERVICE."

The word that stands at the center of what has to be done is a very interesting word indeed. It has hitherto been supposed to be a word of charity, a word of philanthropy. This word is "service." The one thing that the business men of the United States are now discovering, some of them for themselves and some by suggestion, is that they are not going to be allowed to make any money except for a quid pro quo; that they must render a service or get nothing, and that is the regulation of business the government must determine whether what they are doing is a service or not. Everything is business, and politics will be reduced to that standard. The question is, "Are you giving anything to society when you want to take something out of society?" A large part—too large a part—of the fortune-making of recent decades has consisted in getting something for nothing. I do not include brains in the category of "nothing." A man is entitled to the earnings of his brain. I want to declare for my fellow citizens this gospel for the future, that the man who serves will be the man who profits.

What a gospel of justice and equality is expressed in those words: "THE MAN WHO SERVES WILL BE THE MAN WHO PROFITS." In that sentence," says a writer in The Public, "is the solution of all social problems—SERVICE FOR SERVICE."

There is no truer, more profound and far-reaching thought than that of service—unfeigned and unselfish. In it, the humblest workman finds the greatest joy in his labor. In it, the most powerful public service corporation finds its most logical excuse for existence.

SERVICE—instead of being the badge of the mendicant it is the symbol of the highest distinction mortal man can know. SERVICE—full, free and unrestrained; to give more than we receive, instead of trying to gain everything for nothing; SERVICE—the basis of every promotion; the motive back of every act—it is yet to become the most honored word in the vocabulary of mankind!

BILLY SUNDAY

Billy Sunday—the Rev. William Ashley Sunday—as the metropolitan press now speaks of him, is referred to in several quarters as the greatest preacher of modern times.

Whether this opinion is warranted or not we will not attempt to say here. With him as with all other national characters—and Billy Sunday is now undoubtedly one of our national characters—it takes the truer and clearer perspective of one or more generations to arrive at a perfectly just and unbiased judgment.

That he is a remarkable man, in some respects a wonderful man, no one will attempt to gainsay. Greatness, after all is a matter of character—that is, the quality of greatness that endures and grows, rather than diminishes, with the passing of time.

But Billy Sunday is yet to be subjected to the acid test of TIME. And until that test is applied it is worse than foolish for men to enter into heated arguments as to his greatness, his genuineness, his sincerity.

Suffice it to say that increasing thousands of his countrymen hail this picturesque preacher as a truly great man. In mental alertness; in physical endurance; in dramatic ability; and in the vigor and picturesqueness of his oratory, Sunday is unsurpassed, possibly unequaled, by any living man.

Nor is there much point to the scoffer's cynical fling, "He does no good," in the face of the thousands of voluntary tributes he receives from men and women in every walk of life. "Mr. Sunday, you have done my husband," or "you have done my wife a world of good—he is a changed man," or "she is a changed woman."

The judgment of the man who goes to hear him and goes away to scoff is scarcely to be accepted as being of the same degree of competency as the declaration of the man who, one, two, five years after points to the night he "bit the sawdust trail" as the real beginning of his life.

And there are thousands of such men. It is generally said of "revivals" that they owe their "success" to overwrought emotion, and there is truth in the charge. The emotional features of Billy Sunday's meetings undoubtedly play an important part.

But when hardened gamblers and drunkards and wife beaters and convicted criminals and prostitutes and all types of abandoned men and women in every city in the land in which Mr. Sunday has held a series of meetings are pointed to today as living correct lives, modestly and devoutly, what better evidence does any fair minded man need of the genuine soul-power of this remarkable evangelist?

We have no desire here to pass judgment either for or against Billy Sunday. In these columns we have made it a point not to question men's motives, but to judge them wholly by their acts. Applying this rule to Billy Sunday, we have no hesitancy in crediting him with the accomplishment of a vast amount of good.

Further than this we believe there is no occasion for one man to go in making a public estimate of another man's worth.

To Investigate Hearst Letters.

Washington, Jan. 5.—The senate committee investigating campaign expenditures held a meeting and read into the record another batch of Standard Oil correspondence, furnished to the committee by William R. Hearst, in the form of photographic reproductions. Following the reading of the letters the committee held an executive session and decided to send an investigation of the charges made by ex-senator J. B. Foraker as to how Mr. Hearst obtained the letters.

Rescued by Living Chain.

Columbus, O., Jan. 5.—Leo Moran, 12, son of G. A. Moran, had a narrow escape from drowning in the Olentangy river. While skating the boy broke through the ice and was discovered clinging to the edge of the broken ice. Policemen Penn and citizens formed a living chain and the boy was carried to the shore after the policeman dragged him from the water.

Girl's Beauty Her Undoing.

Bethany, W. Va., Jan. 5.—Miss Helena Kesterling, physical instructor at Bethany college and regarded as one of the most beautiful girls ever seen at the institution, was dismissed by the trustees along with five students. Miss Kesterling asserts that the only explanation offered was that she was "too beautiful to remain in the same zone as impressionable young men."

TOLEDO DOCTOR IS AUTO VICTIM

Machine Dives From Dock Into Maumee River.

Toledo, O., Jan. 5.—Dr. Peter Donnelly, Toledo surgeon of national prominence, was drowned when he drove his automobile off a dock and into the Maumee river at the foot of Madison avenue. When Dr. Donnelly left the Toledo club for his home he turned the wrong way into Madison avenue. The machine smashed through the dock chains, broke through the dock chains, broke through the ice and sank in about 20 feet of water.

Dr. Donnelly was a brother of Circuit Judge Michael Donnelly of Napoleon.

A diver found the car overturned and failed to bring the body to the surface.

Dr. Donnelly was suffering from high fever, but continued his practice against the advice of other doctors. He attended a meeting of the Academy of Medicine and stopped with companions at the Toledo Club. It is believed that, in delirium, resulting from fever, he drove his car off the wharf at high speed.

The accident was witnessed by but one man, Roy Vidian, 20, watchman of the Western Union Telegraph company, who was walking up the hill on Madison avenue, near Water street, as the automobile passed him headed directly for the street end dock. Vidian declares he saw three persons in the automobile.

Will Aid Cripples.

Moon, Vernon, N. Y., Jan. 5.—In order to aid cripples and to reduce mendacity, vagrancy and pauperism among them, a number of prominent residents of West Chester county and New York have just organized the Cripples' Welfare Society of New York and West Chester. Justice Keogh of the supreme court approved the incorporation of the society. The society was formed primarily to promote the welfare of cripples, supply the needy with artificial legs and arms, procure employment for cripples and to elevate the moral and physical condition of cripples in general.

Mrs. Mary Cooper of Cooperdale is spending several days with her brother, Allen Eddy in Zanesville.

"CASCARETS" BEST BOWEL CLEANSER

No Biliousness, Headache, Sour Stomach, Coated Tongue or Constipation.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

To Be Married Today
A license was issued yesterday for the marriage of Miss Altha Holt and Clyde Waters. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Holt and Mr. Waters is employed at the Central grocery. The marriage will take place probably today and Mr. Waters and his bride expect to go to housekeeping at once.

COMMITTEE TO PASS ON MONUMENT PLAN

Columbus, O., Jan. 5.—A committee has been selected by the members of the Woman's Relief corps and the G. A. R. department of Ohio, to select a design for a monument to be erected in the cemetery of the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' home, Sandusky. The relief corps raised $4,000 for the monument. Those selected on the committee will meet at the Hotel Columbus, this city, to determine upon a design. The following are members: Commander of the Relief Corps Mrs. Dora L. Brush, Cleveland; Mrs. Edith Mason, Oberlin, past state editor; Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, Washington, C. H.; Mrs. Elizabeth Davis, Cincinnati; Mrs. Elizabeth Belder, Painesville; State Commander G. A. R. Charles W. Bladgett, Cincinnati; Assistant Adjutant General W. S. Matthews, Columbus; J. R. Johnson, Youngstown; L. H. Williams, Ripley, W. R. Warnock, Urbana.

Threatens to Kill Wife.
Seattle, Wash., Jan. 5.—Amos Russe, once a pitcher for the New York Nationals, was committed to the county jail on a charge of threatening to kill his wife, who swore to the complaint. It is alleged that Russe drove his wife, who is an invalid, and her little daughter, into the street. Last summer Russe was a gatekeeper at the Seattle ball park. Since the close of the ball season he has been working as a laborer.

Forger Works in Europe.

New York, Jan. 5.—William Lodman, who was first exposed by the Sun in 1906 for passing forged drafts in the name of some newspaper with which he had pretended to have an editorial or business relation, is again practicing his frauds, this time in Europe. Following his usual methods Lodman made drafts on the New York Evening Post. Several of these drafts which Lodman had cashed in his own name have been repudiated by banks here within the past two months. The most recent of the forgeries came to this city through the office of the Guaranty Trust company and were drawn on the Evening Post through the Chatham National bank.

Postmaster In Dilemma.

Boston, Jan. 5.—The receipt of a quart bottle filled with whisky by parcel post from Boston to Lynn placed Postmaster Craig of that city in a peculiar position. He can't send the bottle to the dead letter office. Sending whisky through the mails is tabooed by the government. The department regulations also prohibit the delivery of the bottle to the person to whom it was sent. Still other regulations forbid either the destruction of mailed matter or the keeping of liquors at a postoffice.

Stage Society Not Disbanded.

New York, Jan. 5.—The stage society of New York has not given up its work, even though it is prohibited from giving performances on Sunday nights, as it wished to do, in view of the fact that Sunday night is the one on which the actors and actresses who co-operate with the society are more free to give their services. It is now announced that the second of the society's productions will be presented at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, Jan. 13, at the Lyceum theater.

Baseball Deal Progresses.

Philadelphia, Jan. 5.—William H. Locke, secretary of the Pittsburgh baseball club, who will take up the option he holds on the purchase of the Phillies, said before his departure for Pittsburg: "The deal which I have on for the purchase of the Phillies is progressing very favorably. I am confident that everything will be in shape to close the negotiations by Jan. 15, when the option which I have on the franchise and players of the Phillies expires."

Auto Skidded: Driver Killed.

Bowling Green, O., Jan. 5.—The body of Charles Shumacher, 37, a farmer of Center township, Wood county, was found beneath his automobile, lying in a ditch, about half a mile from his home. Shumacher was returning from a visit to Toledo when his automobile skidded and turned turtle. There was a great deal of water in the ditch and it is believed Shumacher's death was caused by drowning.

Mrs. Magruder and daughter Ruth of West Carlisle spent yesterday in Coshocton shopping.

OVERPOWER PRISONER WHO KILLED OFFICER

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Jan. 4.—With a bottle of nitroglycerin in one hand and a pistol in the other, Harvey Lee, charged with burglary, held a squad of officers at bay in the county jail at Marion, six miles from here, for nearly an hour.

Then he turned loose with his pistol and Officer Charles Gillin of Cedar Rapids fell dead and Detective John Cook was injured. After Gillin was killed the other officers rushed Lee and overpowered him.

Reid Laid to Rest.

New York, Jan. 5.—Services over the body of Whitelaw Reid, late American ambassador to the court of St. James, were held today in the Episcopal cathedral of St. John the Divine. The great edifice was filled. Bishop Greer conducted the services. President Taft and many men distinguished in professional and civil life were present. The body was later taken to a vault at Sleepy Hollow cemetery.

Rare Statue Sold.

Rome, Jan. 5.—The Italian government has acquired for $20,000 a Craco-Roman bronze statue worth over $100,000. It represents a youth, was discovered in a field at Bassano, near Sulci, which is a flourishing Etruscan city. The statue is admirably preserved and is covered with characteristic green patina. The eyes are hollow and were evidently originally filled with silver or enamel.

Senate Honors Davis.

Washington, Jan. 5.—The senate adjourned after a brief session on the announcement of the death of Senator Davis of Arkansas. Senator O'Gorman was made a member of the foreign relations committee to succeed Senator Rayner of Maryland, who died recently, and Senator Fletcher of Florida succeeded Mr. Rayner as a member of the judiciary committee.

Engagement Announced.

London, Jan. 5.—The engagement is announced of Frances, the daughter of G. H. Lothrop of Detroit, Mich., and Alan Wakefield Saunders, an officer of the Sixtieth Rifles.

Mrs. Brown Passes Away in Canton

The body of Mrs. Clark Brown of Canton, who died Friday in the Altman hospital in that city after a three weeks illness of pneumonia, was brought to Coshocton yesterday at noon and taken to the home of Mrs. Brown's brother, Frank Wilden of John street. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Wilden home. Rev. Burkhardt of the Church of Christ officiating and interment will take place in South Lawn cemetery.

Mrs. Brown previous to her marriage was Miss Sadie Wilden of this city. Almost her entire life was spent in Coshocton until a year ago when the family moved to Canton.

The husband Clark Brown and one son Clark Brown Jr. survive. Three children by a former marriage, Stacy, Ralph and Alice Henry also survive. In addition to two brothers Frank and John Wilden of this city and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Beal of Toledo and Mrs. Alice Grimm of New Philadelphia survive. Mrs. Beal arrived in Coshocton last evening to attend the funeral.

Fred Graham, after spending his vacation in Cooperdale, has returned to Seville, O., to resume his work as instructor in the schools at that place.

Tire costs quickly mount up especially where the punctures and blow-outs are repaired by the electric vulcanizing process.

There is only one kind of vulcanizing—and that is steam vulcanizing which leaves nothing to be desired.

Doubtlessly you have a number of tubes or shoes that need repairing—why not have us attend to the work now in the winter time?

'Blood Will Tell,' Big Feature Film at The Mystic

"Blood Will Tell" is the title of a big Ray-Bee feature film which will be shown at the Mystic next Tuesday afternoon and evening.

The picture is a story of the Civil War from a Southern point of view. An old father of splendid military spirit enlists among the earliest of those going to the front. His only son shows himself to be a rank coward and is afraid to enlist in the army. The father discovers him but later he experiences a complete change of temperament and distinguishes himself by his bravery. While trying to pass the pocket lines of the "Confederate Army," he is shot and killed by his own father.

Edna Beall, who has been seriously ill for the past several weeks, is reported to be slightly improved. However, her condition is still serious.

What "Billy" Thinks of Some Folks

Columbus, O., Jan. 4.—Is your name written here? Billy Sunday, in his two sermons, delivered Friday, included a large number in his wholesale criticism. If you come under any of the general heads given below you can find out exactly what Sunday thinks of you:

Physicians who prescribe beer—Dirty, stinking liars when they tell you that your system needs it.

Dudes—The missing link between man and monkey, who is only waiting for the will to be provoked to run through with father's dough like a cyclone.

Modern novelists—"You have to read through 50 feet of sewage to find a scintilla of truth."

Luke-warm church members—They use 10 pairs of holdbacks to one set of tugs.

Inactive church members—False alarms and excess baggage.

Sunday's critics—"Fools who thereby reveal their own measure."

Lazy church members—When the angels see them they slam the pearly gates.

Some few church members—Hogs with a thin veneer of respectability and two suits of clothes.

The women that charge 25 cents for a single oyster at a church social—Her "tricks" would shame the devil.

1913 AUTO TAG

Dr. E. C. Carr is the first man in Coshocton to present his automobile with a New Year's present. His machine appeared on the streets yesterday with a 1913 license tag. The background is white, the lettering brown and the number is 10,806.

Appeals Will be Simpler

Columbus, Jan. 4.—A new code of procedure, made necessary by the changes effected in the judiciary by the new state constitution, was adopted by the circuit judges for the new court of appeals, at a meeting held in the Supreme Court today.

The most important of the rules adopted is one providing for abbreviated bills of exceptions. This is designed to expedite litigation materially. Under this rule, these bills will be based down to the bone so as to contain only the testimony which is important. This will obviate the necessity upon the part of the reviewing courts to wade through a mass of unimportant, useless testimony. It will also reduce considerably the expense which heretofore has attached to the carrying up of cases.

Telephone Saves Life Aged Lady

Candover, O., Jan. 4.—A telephone saved the life of Mrs. William E. Sampson, 76 last night.

Mrs. Sampson was alone in her home, in the hills north of Seio, when fire broke out. The flames rapidly spread. Mrs. Sampson, who is infirm realized that she could not leave the house alone and immediately spread the alarm to neighbors over her telephone.

Help came soon and she was carried out in safety. The house collapsed five minutes later.

A box containing family records dating over a century back were destroyed.

Epidemic of Measles at W. Lafayette

West Lafayette is in the throes of an epidemic of sickness. Many of the residents are suffering from bad attacks of grippe while there are no less than 18 cases of measles among the children.

Steps are being taken by the physicians to check the latter disease as it is assuming alarming proportions.

LANDS NICE PLUM

Edward Switzer of Delaware, who will arrive in Coshocton today to visit his brother-in-law, Raymond Rodgers, was recently appointed first sergeant-at-arms in the house of representatives at Columbus.

Miss Puck Walker of Warsaw was in town yesterday.

Invitation for Senator Green

Urichsville, Jan. 4.—Invitations have been issued for the twenty-fifth annual banquet of the Twin City Jackson club to be held at the hotel Hyatt, January 8. Theodore Lanning is to be toastmaster.

The program of speechmaking includes addresses by E. A. Wolf, J. H. Mitchell, Hon. Fred Barthelme, Senator William Green, Hon. W. A. Ashbrook, S. E. McGuire and G. S. Evans.

Keene Lad Breaks Leg on The Ice

John, six-year-old son of C. W. Kerr, proprietor of a general store in Keene, sustained a broken right leg when he fell while skating on a pond on the Jesse Lawrence farm near the village Saturday morning. Dr. McMichael reduced the fracture.

C. E. Anderson Funeral Monday

The funeral of C. E. Anderson will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Presbyterian church, Rev. Brewer officiating.

The following will serve as pall-bearers: C. E. Ransom, W. R. Lynde, Edward Hanlon, W. W. Cantwell, Frank Hagans and Rufus Arnold. Music for the service will be furnished by the church choir composed of Mrs. Brewer, Miss Ione Glass, E. A. Dawson and Fred Compton. Burial will take place in Oak Ridge cemetery.

Injured in Fall from Freight Car

M. L. Peter, Pennsylvania freight conductor, slipped and fell off a car at Trinway Friday evening, while attempting to set a brake. Peter fell heavily to the ground and badly sprained his back. He was taken to his home at Gnadenhuetten, where he was given medical attention.

A PLEASING BILL

"Seven Hours in New York," a burlesque with the soft pedal on, played to only a fair house at the Sixth Street Theatre last evening. Several good songs, at least one good dance and a threadbare plot was the substance of the offering.

"Sleepy Time," the finale in the first act and the Parisian dance by Bessie Poole in the second act possessed considerable merit. The rag time baseball game made the hit of the evening. The costumes were good and the chorus work pleased throughout.

Kimble Law Is Attacked

Steubenville, O., Jan. 4.—Six of those indicted under the corrupt practice act filed motions to quash today, alleging the unconstitutionality of the act and the uncertainty of its provisions. Also several reasons why the grand jury was not a legal one.

Samuel Stark, treasurer-elect and James Gilson refused to file motion and they ask speedy trials. Attorneys for Stark give a sensational defense that the presenting of an organ to a negro church for which he was indicted, was given the official sanction of Prosecuting Attorney Paisley before Stark donated the organ.

REMOVE BULLET FROM MAN'S HEAD

Candover, O., Jan. 4.—By the aid of an X-Ray, Dr. Mersfelder removed a .32 calibre bullet from the roof of the mouth of John Black, who was shot in a boarding house in Dover on Thursday night. Black is improving rapidly.

The injured man still refuses to discuss the shooting and police are at a loss to know which way to proceed. Black was shot when the lights in his room were suddenly extinguished.

"I won't say a word about the shooting to anyone until I meet the man who did it, face to face. I know him and until I meet him I don't want the police to work on the case."

The utmost mystery surrounds the shooting.

$10,000 IN BOOZE POURED INTO GUTTERS

Independence, Kas., Jan. 4.—For four hours today the gutters in front of the Montgomery county court house here ran with beer and whiskey following the destruction of more than $10,000 worth of intoxicants confiscated in "joint" raids during the last nine months.

Acting under orders of the district court, the sheriff and his assistants carted the barrels and cases to the street and broke them open. There were 200 kegs of beer, 100 barrels of bottled beer, 150 cases of bottled beer, five barrels and 100 cases of whiskey besides a number of small packages with various contents.

Operators Leave for Binghamton

Ralph Brucken and Robert Kirk left Saturday afternoon for Binghamton, N. Y., where they will be employed as machine operators in the Vail-Ballou linotype plant. Brucken and Kirk are the first employees of the local Vail plant to leave this city for the plant in Binghamton.

Squire Files Annual Report

Squire M. W. Wimmer filed his annual report with County Auditor Frank Mowery, Saturday. During the year he collected about $161 but $25 of this amount was kept back by the state examiner with which to purchase some new office equipment for the squire. The amount turned in to the auditor was $136.

BREAKS A COLD, NEEDS NO HELP.

Pape's Cold Compound cures colds and grippe in a few hours—Tastes nice—Acts gently.

It is a positive fact that a dose of Pape's Cold Compound, taken every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken, will end the Grippe and break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach, limbs or any part of the body.

It promptly relieves the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Take this wonderful Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is nothing else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist can supply—accept no substitute—contains no quinine. Belongs in every home. Tastes nice—acts gently.

Wets Will Not Accept Challenge

Columbus, Jan. 4.—"Wet" leaders of the state will ignore the challenge of Superintendent Wayne B. Wheeler, of the Anti-Saloon League, on behalf of the "drys" for a series of public debates on the merits of the liquor license law which liberal forces have initiated by petition for introduction in the legislature next Monday.

"This measure is now in the hands of the Secretary of State and will be turned over to the legislature as soon as it convenes," said a liberal leader Friday. "There it will be thoroughly debated in committee and on the floor of both branches by the representatives of both sides."

The liberals charge that Wheeler's challenge was just a little publicity stunt calculated to bring moral and financial support from the enemies of license reform.

Mrs. Harvey Elder of Warsaw shopped in town Saturday.

7. Write a discussion of not less than 150 words about the man on the farm, who has so much "bad luck."
8. Give some of the reasons as discussed by Carver why diversification of crops is and must be the rule for the vast majority of farms.

Made Herself Useful.

Miss Isabella L. Wagner knows Roosevelt ways, and Taft ways, and will be retained to learn Wilson ways at the White House. She is not protected by civil service as social secretary to the first lady of the land, but seems to have made herself indispensable.

The Elks and Buckeyes will have a match game on the Park View alleys Monday night. The game will start at 7:30 o'clock.

The STOLEN SINGER

by MARTNA BELLINGER
 COPYRIGHT 1911, THE DOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY

"Me, too," chirped Mr. Lloyd-Jones. "I came expressly to talk over that plan of building up friendly adjoining estates out in Idaho; sort of private shooting and hunting park, you know. And I haven't had a minute to say a word." Jones suddenly began to feel himself aggrieved. As the door closed after Chamberlain, Melanie motioned them back to their seats.

"It's not so very late," she said easily. "Come back and make yourselves comfortable, and I'll listen to both of you," she said with a demure little devil in her eye. "I haven't seen you for ages, and I don't know when the good moment will come again." She included the two men in a friendly smile, and the hand toward the waiting chairs, and adjusted a light shawl over the shoulders of Madame Reynier.

But Aleck by this time had the bit in his teeth and would not be coaxed. His ordinarily cool eye roved wrathfully on the broad shoulders of Mr. Lloyd-Jones, who was fighting a cigarette, and he turned abruptly to Miss Reynier. His voice was as serious as if parliament, at least, had been hanging on his words.

"May I call tomorrow, Miss Reynier, at about twelve?"

"Oh, I say," put in Jones, "all of you come to luncheon with me at the Little Gray Fox—will you? Capital place and all sorts of nice people. Do come. About one."

"I think my proposition a prior one," he remarked with dogged precision; "but, of course, Miss Reynier must decide." He recovered his temper enough to add, quite pleasantly, considering the circumstances, "Unless Madame Reynier will take my part?" turning to the older woman.

"Oh, no, not fair," shouted Jones. "Madame Reynier's always on my side. Aren't you, Madame?"

Madame Reynier smiled inscrutably. "I'm always on the side of virtue in distress," she said.

"That's me, then, isn't it? The way you're abusing me, Madam, I'm listening here to Van Camp all the evening!"

But Melanie, tired, perhaps, of beating patiently tactful, settled of her. "I can't go to luncheon with anybody, tomorrow," she protested. "I've had a touch of that arch-enemy, indigestion, you see; and I can't do anything but my prescribed exercises, nor drink anything but distilled water."

"Nor eat anything but food!" We know," cried the irrepressible Jones. "But the Little Gray Fox has a special diet for just such cases as yours. Do come!"

"Heavens! Then I don't want to go there!" groaned Aleck.

Melanie gave Jones her hand, half in thanks and half in farewell. "No, thank you, not tomorrow, but sometime soon; perhaps Thursday. Will that do?" she smiled. Then, as Jones was discontentedly lounging about the door, she did a pretty thing. Turning from the door, she stood with face averted from everybody except Van Camp, and for an instant her eyes met his in a friendly, half-humorous but wholly non-committal glance. His eyes held hers in a look that was like an embrace.

"I will see you soon," she said quietly.

Aleck, on his part, had not come to his decision so readily or impulsively; nor, having arrived there, was he to be turned from it easily. True as it was that he sincerely and affectionately desired Melanie Reynier for a wife, yet on the whole he was a very cool Romeo. He was manly, but he was calculating; he was honorably disposed toward matrimony, but he was not reborn with love. And so, in the sober bedroom of the club, he quickly fell into the good sleep induced by fatigue and healthy nerves.

Morning brought counsel and a disposition to renew operations. A note was dispatched to his Diana by a private messenger, and the boy was bidden to wait for an answer. It came presently:

"Come at twelve, if you wish."

"MELANIE REYNIER."

Aleck smiled with satisfaction. Here was a wise venture going through happily, he hoped. He was pleased that she had named the very hour he had asked for the night before. That was like her good, frank way of meeting a situation, and it augured well for the unknown emergencies of their future life. He had little patience with timidity and traditional coyness in women, and fearless spirit. Melanie's open almost set his heart thumping.

But not quite, and no one understood the cool nature of that organ better than Melanie herself. The ladies in the apartment at the Archangel had lingered at their breakfast, the austerity of which had been mitigated by a center decoration of orchids and ferns, fresh-touched with dew; or so Madame Reynier had described them to Melanie, as she brought them to her with the card of Mr. Lloyd-Jones. Miss Reynier smiled faintly, admired the blossoms and turned away.

The ladies usually spoke French with each other, though occasionally Madame Reynier dropped into the harsher speech of her native country. On this morning she did this, telling Melanie, for the tenth time in as many days, that in her opinion they ought to be going home. And Melanie considered this her duty, and felt no real responsibility after the statement was made. Nevertheless, she was glad to find Melanie disposed to discuss the matter a little further.

"Do you wish to go home, Auntie, or is it that you think I ought to go?"

"I don't wish to go without you, child, you know that; and I am very comfortable here. But his Highness, your cousin, is very impatient; I see that in every letter from Krolvetz. You offended him deeply by putting off your marriage to Count Lorenzo, and every day now deepens his indignation against you. I don't like to discuss these things, Melanie, but I suspect that your action deprives him of a very necessary revenue; and I understand, better than you do, to what lengths your cousin is capable of going when he is displeased. You are, by the law of your country, his ward until you marry. Would it not be better to submit to him in friendship, rather than to incur his enmity? After all, he is your next of kin, the head of your family, and a very powerful man. If we are going home at all, we ought to go now."

"But to suppose we should decide not to go home at all?"

"You will have to go some time, dear child. You are all alone, except for me, and in the nature of things you can't have me always. Now that you are young, you think it an easy thing to break away from the ties of blood and birth; but believe me, it isn't easy. You, with your nature, could never do it. The call of the land is strong, and the time will come when you will long to go home, long to go back to the land where your father led his soldiers, and where your mother was admired and loved."

Madame Reynier paused and watched her niece, who, with eyes cast down, was toying with her spoon. Suddenly a crimson flush rose and spread over Melanie's cheeks and forehead and neck, and when she looked up into Madame Reynier's face, she was gazing through

PARCELS POST CAUSES RUSH AT LOCAL OFFICE

The popularity of the parcels post was evidenced late Friday afternoon at the local postoffice.

People wishing to purchase stamps were held in line for from 20 minutes to half an hour while packages were weighed and stamped properly to be sent by the parcels post method.

That it will be only a matter of a short time until a window for this exclusive kind of mail matter will have to be provided at the postoffice was a self evident fact.

Employees of the novelty companies kept the parcels post window busy practically all of the afternoon sending out packages. This feature of the mails will at once become popular because of the fact that articles, such as sample trays, etc., can be sent out for a matter of eight or 10 cents that used to cost 25 and 35 cents by express.

May Develop Deposit of Clay Near West Lafayette

Chances for the establishment of a clay industry in the vicinity of West Lafayette are at the present time above par.

The building of the new Pennsylvania railroad branch from Bird's Run to Morgan Run on the route which has been surveyed would mean that the clay deposits immediately south of West Lafayette could be easily developed.

Several years ago samples of the clay were sent to a chemist who pronounced it suitable for the making of high grade pottery but nothing had ever been done toward developing the land on account of there being no shipping facilities in the immediate vicinity.

It is thought that the hills on the Samuel Moore farm are underlain with an almost inexhaustible supply of the clay and there is little doubt but that in case the proposed branch line is built the deposits will be developed.

WAYNE WHEELER OFFERS TO DEBATE WET SPEAKERS

Columbus, O., Jan. 4.—Differences between the wets and dries regarding what kind of a license system shall be put into operation may be fought out on the stump.

Charging that the draft of the proposed liquor license law filed as an initiative petition by the liberals "would not result in an effective regulation of the liquor traffic in wet territory. Superintendent W. B. Wheeler of the Ohio Anti-Saloon league yesterday by letters to Secretaries William Haas and Percy Andree of the Ohio Brewers' association and Alonzo A. Shetter, Columbus representative of the association, challenged through them, "anyone representing the brewery interests of Ohio" to debate the merits of the above license law.

The challenger suggested a series of public meetings in various cities, the first to be held in Columbus, the expense for hall rent to be divided equally. Saying "publicity cannot hurt any honest cause or measure," he urged them not to "hesitate to debate the issues involved in the proposed law submitted as their model."
